

About CBWPA

Colorado Black Women for Political Action (CBWPA) is a non-partisan, non-profit organization impacting the community since 1977. Our main purpose is to provide a vehicle for meaningful political involvement of African Americans, create awareness around issues impacting our community, and to engage African American women living in Colorado in the political process.

Our History

In 1977, CBWPA, the brain-child of former State Senator Gloria Tanner, was founded by 13 women who wanted to encourage African-American participation in the political process and serve as a political advocate for the African-American community. Today, the organization's steadfast commitment to the vision of its founders is evident through its programs and services. Its members seek, daily, to infuse Colorado politics with the strength and perspective of the Black woman.

Our Values

- We believe in the advocacy of women's rights on the basis of the equality of the genders, economically, politically, et al.
- We respect differing opinions while holding steadfast to the knowledge that racism still exists and our communities are adversely affected by it.
- We believe that we have an obligation to treat all members and guests with respect.
- We treat the money entrusted to us as sacred.

Our Work

In our 41st year, we expanded programming to engage women of all ages, from all backgrounds, and with varying levels of experience with the political process.

- Lunch and learn sessions: an opportunity for social interaction among our members and the community as well as a casual, informal atmosphere where we can openly discuss topics and issues that impact our community within our ever-evolving Democracy.
- Talking politics after hours: a social setting where everyone is welcome (even non-members) to discuss local and national hot topics. No need to be an expert on politics.
- Reformatted general meeting beginning with Politics 101 basics for the first 15 minutes.
- Campaign Bootcamp to build a bench of campaign operatives of color
- Youth Initiative that includes training in how to run for student council
- Actively identified and endorsed key candidates and support their run for office.

41st Annual Tribute to Black Women Luncheon

Reclaiming Our Time: Women Who Slay!

Each year for the last 41 years, Colorado Black Women for Political Action has come together to break bread and celebrate leaders in our community. We select luminaries of all ages for a special recognition – honoring our wisdom keepers and lifting up rising stars. The luncheon brings together more than 500 Black women and men, our allies, as well as elected officials and political candidates.

In 2019, our focus has been on growing political power and unifying our message. Empowering our community to reclaim our part of the American Dream. For the 41st annual luncheon we are bringing in one of the nation’s leaders creating political power. We also reformatted our events to include:

- Celebrating our individual and collective successes with a semi-formal VIP Private Reception.
- Facilitating intentional networking with our candidates and peers before the luncheon (Oct 12) which is just weeks from the election (Nov 5).
- Promoting Black-owned businesses and facilitate ‘buying Black’ through a Marketplace during our Dessert Reception after the luncheon.
